

July 24, 2012

Professor Toyohiko Yatagai knighted Toyohiko of Utsunomiya

Professor Toyohiko Yatagai was knighted in a service held at the HoloMet 2012 Conference held at the Utsunomiya University in Japan. He was knighted by the current reigning Holoknight, Sir Fernando of Leon, who also presented him with a special sword and parchment, naming him Sir Toyohiko of Utsunomiya.

Fernando of Leon lays the sword on the shoulder of Toyohiko Yatagai and pronounces him the new Holoknight of the international Order of Holoknights. Mitsuo of Tokyo holds the parchment created by Sir Fernando as a part of the service. The parchment is the official document recording the service and is typically created in the language of the reigning holoknight.

The service was attended by six Holoknights, from left Nadya of St. Petersburg, Fernando of Leon, Toyohiko of Utsunomiya, Ichirou of Wako, Wolfgang of Berlin, Malgorzata of Warsaw, and Mitsuo of Tokyo.